Dear Dr. Hamid,

I hereby declare that the Slovensky register placentarnych krvotvornych buniek Eurocord-Slovakia o.z. is an official member of Bone Marrow Donors Worldwide (BMDW) since 30 October 2001.

The BMDW is a voluntary collaborative effort of bone marrow donor registries and cord blood banks with the goal to provide centralised and anonymous information on the HLA phenotypes and other relevant data of unrelated bone marrow donors and cord blood units and make this information easily accessible to the physicians of patients in need of a hemopoietic stem cell transplant.

BMDW was started in 1988 with its office in Leiden (the Netherlands). The BMDW Editorial Board exits of one representative of each registry or cord blood bank and meets twice a year to discuss the achievements and necessary improvements.

BMDW contains the HLA phenotypes of hematopoietic stem cell donors and cord blood units from virtually all registries in the world.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. J.J. van Rood
